

2017 Community Engagement Performance Indicators

This document reviews select aspects of collaboration between the College of Human Sciences and off-campus communities for the mutually beneficial exchange of knowledge and resources in the context of partnership and reciprocity. These collaborations can involve partnerships and coalitions that help mobilize resources and influence systems and serve as catalysts for initiating and/or changing policies, programs, and practices.

Unless otherwise noted, all data represent activities and relationships maintained by members of the College of Human Sciences during the 2017 calendar year (i.e., January to December 2017).

Definitions:

- DHM – Department of Design, Housing, and Merchandising
- HDFS – Department of Human Development and Family Science
- HTM – School of Hospitality and Restaurant Administration
- NSCI – Department of Nutritional Sciences

Engaged Instruction

A pedagogical approach that connects students and faculty with activities that address community-identified needs through mutually beneficial partnerships that deepen students' academic and civic learning. Examples include service-learning courses and service-learning clinical practica.

11 Human Sciences faculty incorporated community engagement in their instruction activities (12% of all faculty). Faculty led 8 internships, 1 service-learning course, and 2 study-away programs (4 total faculty were involved).

Faculty Leading Internships by Academic Unit

777 students engaged in practical experiences in community settings through internships (531 students), service-learning courses (168 students), and international academic experiences (78 students).*

*This number represents all Human Sciences students engaging in reciprocal exchange programs, affiliated approved programs, and faculty-led experiences/conferences.

Students Engaged in Internships by Academic Unit

OSU Students Participating in Study Away Experiences Led by Human Sciences Faculty

**This number includes all OSU students engaging in reciprocal exchange and affiliated approved programs led by Human Sciences faculty.

Engaged Research/Creative Work

A collaborative process between one or more researchers and community partners that creates and disseminates knowledge and/or creative expression with the goal of contributing to an academic discipline and strengthening the well-being of a community. Community-engaged research and creativity identify the assets of all stakeholders and incorporates them in the design and conduct of different phases of the research process.

Human Sciences faculty led 24 externally funded, community-engaged research projects or creative work that a) include community participatory methods and b) address issues relevant to residents of an off-campus community in Oklahoma and/or elsewhere. The total number of these projects is listed below by unit.

Externally Funded Research Projects by Academic Unit

10 Human Sciences faculty with an Extension appointment led 22 externally funded projects (community-engaged and otherwise) or creative work. The total number of these projects is listed below by unit.

Externally Funded Research Projects Among Faculty with Extension Appointment

Cooperative Extension Issue Teams 2017

Design, Housing, and Merchandising
	Health & Hunger	Safety & Environment	Finances, Jobs, and Employment	Family and Child Resilience
Gina Peek	X	X
Adriana Petrova			X
Mary Ruppert-Stroescu		X	X
Human Development and Family Science
Whitney Bailey		X	X
Matt Brosi				X
Cindy Clampet			X
Ron Cox				X
Laura Hubbs-Tait				X
Amanda Morris				X
Sissy Osteen	X		X
Mike Stout			X	X
Hospitality and Tourism Management
David Davis			X
Steve Ruby			X
Stacy Tomas			X
Nutritional Science
Lauren Amaya	X
Barbara Brown	X	X
Debra Garrard-Foster	X		X
Janice Hermann	X
Deana Hildebrand	X
Diana Romano	X

Cooperative Extension

Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service county educators and area, district, and state specialists apply their professional expertise to community-identified needs. By doing so, they support the goals and mission of the university and the community. Their community-engaged outreach may include the delivery of expertise, resources, and programs to the community.

51,006 Oklahomans (30,292 adults, 20,714 youth) were reached in face-to-face programming through Extension education.

Oklahoma Adults Reached through Extension Programs by Issue Teams

Oklahoma Youth Reached through Extension Programs by Issue Teams

Average Change in Adoption of Best Practices or Best Behaviors by Issue Team

22 faculty members were involved in Cooperative Extension.

Faculty Members Involved in Cooperative Extension by Academic Unit

35 students were involved in Extension programs. 3 participated in Extension internships, 1 assisted in research projects, 21 assisted in fact sheet development, and 10 participated in other Extension data projects.

Students Involved in Extension Programs by Academic Unit

Students Involved in Extension Programs Led by DHM

Students Involved in Extension Programs Led by HDFS

Students Involved in Extension Programs Led by HTM

Students Involved in Extension Programs Led by NSCI

Community Partnerships

The partnerships described here represent sustained collaborations between one or more members of the College of Human Sciences and communities for the mutually beneficial exchange, exploration, and application of knowledge, information, and resources. Examples include research, capacity building, and economic development. A community is a group (e.g., of people, organizations, or businesses) external to the university who share one or more characteristics such as location, interest, goal, or values.

College members maintained a total of 258 community partnerships, listed below by unit.

Community Partnerships by Academic Unit

Fund Development for Engagement*

*Including sponsored programs for student development

$5,329,606 in external funds were awarded to support Extension and Engagement projects with Oklahomans.

External Funds Awarded to Support Extension and Engagement with Oklahomans

$15,000 was secured through the OSU Foundation to support Extension and Engagement in 2017. Of that amount, $12,500 came from the Ambassador's endowment, as well as $2,500 from the Marilyn Burns endowment.