SECONDARY EDUCATION:

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

OVERVIEW

Prepare to teach French, German or Spanish as a way of advancing the global community and enhancing the individual lives of students in grades 6-12 by pursuing the Secondary Education: Foreign Language degree option. You will complete in-depth study of your target language, literature and culture, in addition to learning theory, language teaching methods and the meaningful use of instructional technology. As a Secondary Education graduate, you will enter the classroom with extensive and relevant practical experience from multiple field experiences. Upon degree completion, all graduates are recommended to the State of Oklahoma for full teacher certification and are prepared for certification exams in other states, if preferred. Many states offer reciprocal teaching certification.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

- Multiple field experiences across varied school settings, including both rural and urban school districts.
- Recognized within the education community for producing graduates who have in-depth knowledge of instructional methods.
- Committed to preparing graduates to teach with technology, including support for pursuing Apple Teacher and Google Educator certifications.
- Opportunity to participate in a variety of study abroad experiences to develop linguistic and cultural skills to expand your personal and professional experience and to foster a global perspective as a teacher.

NOTABLE NUMBERS

Nearly 1,000 hours of teaching practice gained through field experiences and senior student teaching internship.

STUDENT PERSPECTIVE

“ I like that my major allows me to incorporate my love for Spanish along with education. This program will allow me to become certified as a Spanish teacher for any class K-12, and I will have the ability to pass on the importance of knowing a foreign language to future generations of students. ”

– Abbey Billman, Secondary Education student
